Fund Manager Commentary

Global equities gave up strong returns at the start of November to end 1.2% higher (total return in GBP), as rising COVID hospitalisations in Europe and concerns surrounding the new Omicron variant weighed on investor sentiment. The deviation in regional and style-based returns was stark, with US equities materially outperforming all other equity bourses across developed economies, while value indices underperformed as the economically sensitive, "opening-up" beneficiaries were heavily sold off. In the US, markets were buoyed by strong economic data (retail sales, non-farm payrolls and initial jobless claims were all better-than-anticipated) and the long awaited signing of the $550 billion bipartisan infrastructure bill. Despite strong outperformance year to date, the dual headwinds of strong US outperformance and pronounced market rotation, led the Fund to underperform its benchmark by a little over 2% during the month. Elsewhere, November welcomed the UN Climate Change Conference (COP26) in Glasgow. Headline announcements included more than 100 countries pledging to cut methane emissions by 30% and a goal to halt deforestation, both by 2030. However, while the overall progress fell short of the scale and urgency required, it illustrated the important role the private sector must play in order to transition to a just net zero.
